The Classics of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

Classic Blue

The Classics of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

In 1998, Classic Blue, an independent music publisher, was created to bring music to the public in a new way.

Publishing at Classic Blue focuses on new music: arrangements of classic repertoire, and new contemporary repertoire. The new arrangements of classic repertoire bring new life to classical music and a chance for different instruments and ensembles to perform classics for other instruments. The new contemporary music has one foot planted in classical training, and the other foot dancing to the music of life. This combination of the classics of yesterday, today and tomorrow creates the unique music that is Classic Blue.

In the future, Classic Blue looks to spread out into other fields of the arts, including Visual Arts and Performing Arts, to name just two. There are many disciplines that can benefit from the Classic Blue approach, the idea of making the classics of yesterday, today, and tomorrow available to a broader audience.
